What Is a Picket with Flag Used For?

Corner flags show where the touchline meets the goal line, so players, referees and spectators can see the edges of the pitch at a glance. In PE lessons the same pickets are handy for marking a race course, the ends of relay lanes or the zones of a training drill. With six in the set, a teacher can mark the four corners of a pitch and still have two left for the halfway line or a finish point.

Push the metal spike straight down into the turf until it is fully in the ground; on hard, dry ground, loosen the soil first. The fibreglass pole is described as non-breakable, which suits busy school grounds. Pull the pickets out after use, wipe soil off the spikes and keep the set together so all six are ready for the next game.
