Description :

pH Indicator Dispenser (Product Code: SLE/CH/218) is pH indicator paper packed as a continuous test strip inside a plastic dispenser. The dispenser holds 5 metres of 8mm wide strip covering pH 1–14, and a colour chart provided on its side means the reference scale is always with the paper. Users pull out only the length they need, which reduces waste and keeps the remaining strip clean and dry. It suits school and college chemistry benches, biology and environmental science field work, and quick checks in water and soil testing, and is manufactured by Jain Scientific Equipments Pvt Ltd (ScienceLab), Ambala, a laboratory chemicals supplier in India.

Specifications

Parameter	Detail
Product type	Indicator paper in plastic dispenser
pH range	1 – 14
Strip length	5 metres
Strip width	8mm
Colour reference	Colour chart provided on the side of the dispenser
Supplied as	Laboratory consumable

Typical Use

The dispenser format works well where one supply is shared around a room or carried outdoors. On a field trip, students can test pond, tap and rain water or a soil suspension and read the result against the chart on the dispenser itself, with no separate card to lose. At the bench, a technician can keep one dispenser beside the neutralisation or waste-treatment area and tear off a short piece whenever a check is needed. As with all chemistry consumables, having the colour chart attached makes readings more consistent between users.

Pull out a short length, tear it off with dry fingers, and touch it with a drop of sample rather than dipping the end still attached to the dispenser. Hold the wetted strip beside the side chart in good light and read it straight away. Close the dispenser after use and keep it away from damp and acid or ammonia vapours so the remaining strip stays usable.
