Description :

Treble Trolley with Shallow Trays (Product Code: SLE/HF/35) is the high-capacity, small-parts member of ScienceLab's trolley range: a treble width frame holding twenty-four shallow trays, each on its own pair of runners. It gives a school or college one mobile unit with enough compartments to keep an entire year group's component kits separate and ready to issue. The trolley is made by Jain Scientific Equipments Pvt Ltd (ScienceLab), Ambala, for science departments, STEM rooms and technical training labs looking for educational lab equipment that keeps small items in order.

Typical Use

Twenty-four shallow trays suit courses built around many identical small kits — electronics components, optics pins and mirrors, weighing boats and spatulas, or measuring tools for practical assessments. A common approach is to number the trays to match bench positions so each student pair collects the same tray every lesson, which makes it easy to trace missing or damaged items. Robotics and maker clubs use the same layout for sensors, fasteners and small tools.

Load trays evenly across the three columns so the trolley stays balanced, keep liquids and sharp items in closed boxes inside the trays, and park the trolley with its castor brakes on. Wiping trays with mild detergent at the end of term keeps them ready for the next group.

Manufacturer

This trolley comes from Jain Scientific Equipments Private Limited of Ambala, Haryana, a manufacturer trading as ScienceLab that supplies school and laboratory storage alongside its teaching apparatus to India and international markets. See our company profile for more.
