Description :

Human Teeth Model (Product Code: SLE/BL/87) is an enlarged teeth model with a tooth brush, used to demonstrate tooth brushing and oral hygiene to a whole group in schools, health education sessions and dental awareness programmes. Its enlarged size lets everyone in the room follow each brushing step, and it is appropriately coloured and neatly finished. It is made by Jain Scientific Equipments Pvt Ltd (ScienceLab), an OEM anatomical models manufacturer,at its own factory in Ambala, India, and fits well into a health education kit for schools.

What Is the Human Teeth Model Used For?

Teaching children to brush is far easier with a large model the whole class can see than with a mirror or a drawing. The teacher or health worker holds up the enlarged teeth and uses the tooth brush to show each part of the routine: outer surfaces, inner surfaces and chewing surfaces, reaching the back teeth, and gentle strokes along the gum line. Pupils then copy the movements, and volunteers can try the brush on the model themselves.

The same model supports lessons on why teeth decay, how plaque collects where brushing is missed and why sugary snacks matter. Schools building a human biology model set in India often start with a teeth model, because dental care is taught from the early grades onward. After each session, wipe the model with a soft damp cloth, dry it before storage and keep the brush clean and separate.

OEM Manufacturer

ScienceLab is the trading name of Jain Scientific Equipments Private Limited, the original equipment manufacturer (OEM) behind this Human Teeth Model. The model is produced at the company's own licensed factory at Saha, Ambala, Haryana, and sold directly by the maker to schools, health programmes, dealers and importers, so questions about the model, the tooth brush or repeat orders are answered by the people who make it. Company background is on our profile page.
