Description :

Anatomy Of Frog (Product Code: SCL484/0210) is a laminated zoology chart used to teach the organ systems of the frog, the classic model vertebrate, in school and college biology laboratories. One 75 x 100 cm polyart sheet lets the whole class follow the anatomy together, whether or not the school carries out dissection. It is made by Jain Scientific Equipments Pvt Ltd (ScienceLab), an OEM manufacturer, at its own factory in Ambala, India, as part of its zoology lab equipment.

What Is the Frog Anatomy Chart Used For?

Frog anatomy is usually taught system by system. Externally, students note the moist skin that also works as a breathing surface, the tympanum behind each eye and the webbed hind feet. Internally, the digestive tract runs from a mouth with a tongue attached at the front to a short intestine ending in the cloaca, the heart has two atria and one ventricle, and the paired kidneys lie against the back wall of the body cavity. Comparing the frog's three-chambered heart with the four-chambered human heart is a favourite discussion point.

Many schools now teach this topic with charts, models and preserved material instead of fresh dissection. The chart serves as the fixed reference while students examine a frog model or skeleton at their benches, and where dissection is still practised it guides students to find each organ in the right order.

OEM Manufacturer

The chart is manufactured by Jain Scientific Equipments Private Limited, which trades as ScienceLab and acts as the OEM rather than a reseller. The company is registered under CIN U29309HR2020PTC087597, and production takes place at its licensed factory at 449, HSIIDC Industrial Area, Saha, Ambala, Haryana (Factory Licence AMB-ONLINE-CHD-J-414). Zoology department and repeated orders.
